

The Bellbrook

Independent living, one-bedroom with den apartment

- One-bedroom Bellbrook apartments feature a spacious living room with plenty of room for dining, a den and a modern kitchen including a dishwasher. All independent living apartments provide spacious closets and a washer and dryer.

First floor Bellbrook residences have a patio; those on the second and third floors, a Juliette balcony.

With the rich, engaged lifestyle offered by Mercy Circle's Bellbrook apartments, independent living residents can revitalize themselves and discover a new way of living.

Frances Xavier Warde, who in 1828 was the first to join Catherine McAuley in her ministry to serve the poorest of Dublin, was born at Bellbrook House in County Laois, Ireland. She was one of two companions with Catherine McAuley when they professed vows, thereby founding the Sisters of Mercy in 1831.

In 1843, Mother Warde and six young Sisters sailed to the United States. By her death in 1884, she had led the establishment of 82 Mercy ministries in 20 cities across nine states.

Bellbrook apartments are a tribute to the important first chapter in the expansion of Catherine McAuley's mission which has expanded to more than 30 countries.
